To Mémée

We want to wish a happy 60th birthday to Mrs. Nicole Lefebvre, beloved wife of Mr. André Thiffault. The sexagenarian celebrated her birthday in the peace and quiet of her Lemieux Range home, surrounded by her children and many grandchildren. "Mémée", as she is lovingly called by her children, keeps in good shape by walking, swimming and playing tennis. We wish long life to "Mémée" and above all, may she always keep her good cheerful personality and her great sense of humor.

Her family and friends

Two related accidents claim pair of victims

Two people died in a pair of related accidents last Thursday May 2, on Rte. 201 between Ormstown and Valleyfield.

Two tractors and two other vehicles were involved in crashes which took place about one hour apart, near the Abattoir Régionale on the highway.

Around 3 p.m. a farm tractor, attempting to pull out another which was stuck in the mud in an adjacent field, flipped over on top of its driver, Gisèle Richer, 45, of St-Louis-de-Gonzague. Richer was killed instantly, officers of the Valleyfield detachment of the Sureté du Québec reported.

One hour later, around 4 p.m., a car heading north at high speed, according to police, hit another vehicle which was parked on the shoulder. The parked car was thrown into a water-filled ditch by the impact, and its driver, Geoffre Ritter, 62, of Valleyfield, was trapped inside the car in about 1.25 m. of water and drowned.

A passenger in the same vehicle, a Mme. Sauvé, 37, also of Valleyfield, was rescued by police, who were still on the scene after the first accident. They were, however, unable to get Ritter out in time.

Ritter and Sauvé had stopped to look at the accident scene, police said.
