IN MEMORIAM

BROWN, Art - In loving memory of a wonderful husband and father who passed away a year ago October 6th at the age of 36.

"I'll always miss dreaming my dreams with you."

Anne
Dad, love you always Christopher

ELLIOT, Ross - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away on October 7, 1988.

The sadness still comes over us.

The tears still often flow.
We miss you as much today
As we did two years ago.
Always in our hearts,
Anne, Greg, Carolyn,
Heather & Ian.

HAMPSON-O'CONNOR, Edna - In loving memory of Edna Hampson-O'Connor who passed away October 2, 1981.

Going through changes
The winter was here
The ground was frozen
We could feel your trembling
Then the spring came
The grass became wet and muddy
But we could hear you crying
Summer has arrived
Everything was green
But we could feel your pain
Now the fall is here
The leaves from the trees are falling
The wind is blowing
Nature has given up beautiful weather
And fell apart
On October 2nd, 1981
And we couldn't understand why
You had to go to another world, apart from us.
But with the years that went by
We all went through changes
Now we look up into the sky at night time
We see the stars shining
And it reminds us of your bright hazel eyes,
And then when we see the moon
We can sense your smiling
Then the day comes
The sun shining bright
We can see your whole face shining through the sky;
And that makes us understand better.
Hope that you are very happy in Heaven. We think and pray for you each day. We miss you and love you very much from all your children.

Obituary

The Late James P. O'Hare

File photo: Phillip Norton

The late James O'Hare (left) was a member of the group of Huntingdon retirees who assembled at Rolph's hardware store, fondly known around town as "The Liar's Club". Also shown is the late Leo-Paul Legault a former Town alderman. The Liar's Club now meets at the Huntingdon Post Office each morning.

The Huntingdon community was saddened by the recent passing of James Patrick O'Hare at the Huntingdon County Hospital on September 15th, where he had been a patient for the past two years; he was in his eighty-second year.

A funeral service was held at St. Joseph's Church in Huntingdon on Tuesday, September 18, with Father Gabriel Clement officiating, assisted by Harold Higgins and Douglas Burns. The pallbearers were Clifford Wilson, James Smythe, Malcolm McNaughton, Jon Proudfoot, Gordon Tannahill and Rosairio Taillefer.

Jim O'Hare spent his whole working life in the Postal Service, starting first at the age of sixteen delivering mail by horse and buggy on the Huntingdon rural routes with his father Neil. He later worked in the Huntingdon Post Office with Norman McCrimmon until he joined the Canadian Army during the second World War, where he was attached to the Army Postal Service in England.

Many local people who had sons, or husbands, serving overseas, would be pleasantly surprised on receiving their mail to find a bit of Jim's humour written on the back of their letters, proof that these had passed through his hands.

On his discharge from the Army in 1946 he returned to the Huntingdon Post Office and was appointed Postmaster, a position that he held until his retirement in 1974. He was honoured with a retirement party by his many friends, his Legion Comrades, his fellow horse lovers, and his many happy Post Office customers, in recognition of his many years of friendly and efficient service. During his retirement he spent many happy hours, until his final illness would no longer allow him, enjoying his hobby of racehorses.

He is survived by his wife Norah Miller, his son Neil and his wife Paulette, and his daughter Rucie. He is also survived by his two grandchildren Erin and Emery James O'Hare. He had one brother, Thomas, now living in Montreal who also survives him. He was predeceased by two sisters, Ena, and Rucie (Mrs. Austin Lefebvre). During his lifetime he made many friends, he will now be missed by all of them; as well as by his family who are left to mourn.

Fond of Horses -- Likes Pigeons Too

Many persons in Huntingdon and District will be pleased to see the happy smile on the face of their former courteous and obliging Postmaster's Assistant, as he makes friends with the pigeons in famous part of London England. Pte. J.P. O'Hare is with the Canadian Postal Corps, Canadian Army Overseas. Quite a number of local people have received letters from overseas with the pencilled initials of Pte. O'Hare on them. He is quite well, and apparently just as fond of pigeons as he is of horses. (Photo and caption taken from the 1940's of The Gleaner, contributed by a friend of the Late Mr. O'Hare)

The Late J. Renaud Caza

On September 27th, at the Montreal General Hospital, at the age of sixty-three, beloved husband of Margaret (Crawford), predeceased by his parents, Bella (Quenneville) and Romé Caza, father of Bill, Joey and Linda; Father-in-law of Roland Daoust; grandfather of Jordan, Mark, Saffron, Noah and Hope; brother of Carmen, Maurice, Yves, Andrée, Mireille and Camille. Predeceased by brother Avila.

Born in St. Anicet July 19th, 1927, he attended local schools, thence to Rigaud, College Bourget, then the University of Montreal.

In 1950 Renaud worked at Canadian Arsenals Ltd., where he met Margaret. They married in 1952. In 1953, while working as Sales Manager for Chas. Cusson Ltee, Montreal, Renaud laid the groundwork for what is now J.R. Caza & Frere Inc. in St. Anicet.

Member of the Ordre des Ingénieurs du Québec, Renaud was Mayor of St. Anicet in 1980-81, fulfilling the balance of term of deceased Mayor-in-office, Lucien Perron.

A man who could get things done, Renaud met the challenges in his life decisively. His was a life full of the joys of accomplishment.

In April 1989, the St. Anicet Chamber of Commerce honored him as personality of the year. Four months later he was diagnosed as having lung cancer. It was another challenge, and he faced it with courage. In July 1990, he left hospital to participate in the bicentennial Caza Reunion, and a civic reception in his honor.

After a year of combating his illness Renaud lost the battle. A man of humor, good will and high principles, he will be missed, and remembered, by his family, his friends and his community.
