

Frederick Orr mourned in Hemmingford area

The Hemmingford community was shocked and saddened to learn of the accidental death of Frederick (Freddie) Charles Orr on Tuesday, Sept. 26, 1995. He was the son of the late Marjorie (McGilton) and Donald Orr.

Freddie was born in Ormstown on December 18, 1947, and was married to Sheryl Hawkins on August 9, 1975.

He lived and worked on the Orr farm and also worked with his father in the cattle business, learning the trade well, and continuing to carry on the business until his accident.

He joined the Hemmingford Volunteer Fire Department in 1965 and was Second Assistant Chief at the time of his death. He will be greatly missed by his fellow firemen.

Freddie is survived by his wife Sheryl (Hawkins); his sister Mary Anderson; nieces Heather and Lynn Anderson; nephew Richard (Ricky) Anderson; his step-mother Doris; stepsister Margaret Orr; step-brothers Douglas, Bruce and Dennis Williams; his mother-in-law Josie Hawkins; and sisters- and brothers-in-law.

The remains rested at the J.M. Sharpe

Funeral Home in Hemmingford where the Hemmingford Volunteer Firemen served an Honor Guard during calling hours on Thursday. A memorial service was held Thursday evening by the Clinton County Firemen.

The funeral service was held at St. Andrew's United Church with Rev. Elke Mehnart officiating.

Elke spoke highly of Freddie, a quiet friendly man who loved his work with the Fire Department and hunting.

Freddie was liked by all who knew him, and will be greatly missed in the community.

The choir sang the 23rd Psalm with hymns, "When I survey the Wondrous Cross", an "Will your Anchor Hold". Mary Aboud was at the organ.

The church was filled to capacity and was into the front walkway, with friends and relatives coming from Toronto, Ottawa and other points to pay their last respects. Pallbearers were Steven Hadley, Steve Hebert, Terry Maher, Donny Keddy, Gaetan Gagne and Marvin Moore.

Interment was in the family plot at the Hemmingford Protestant Cemetery.

Hemmingford man dies in tree-felling accident

A Hemmingford area man was killed on Tuesday Sept. 26 when part of a tree he was felling broke off and struck him.

Frederick Charles Orr, 47, was cutting down the dead tree on his Rte. 219 property around 8:45 a.m. with the help of Trevor Herbert. The tree broke in two unexpectedly and part of it fell on Orr.

He was transported to the Barrie Memorial Hospital in Ormstown, where he was declared dead on arrival.

The Lacolle detachment of the Sureté du Québec has declared the death an accident.

Orr, a well-known farmer and cattle dealer in the region, had served as a Hemmingford Volunteer Fireman for almost 30 years; he was the brigade's second assistant chief at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife Sheryl, a sister Mary Anderson, and other relatives in the area.

Rev. and Mrs. G. Bannerman mark their 40th anniversary

A most enjoyable evening was held recently in Huntingdon, when relatives, friends and neighbors gathered to celebrate the 40th wedding anniversary of the Rev. Gordon and Marion Bannerman.

The parish hall was tastefully decorated with flowers, streamers and balloons, as well as pictures of by-gone years.

Marion and Gordon warmly welcomed the guests as they arrived, and an evening of music, dancing and visiting was enjoyed. Even the children, to whom the Bannermans have endeared themselves, had a happy and lively time.

Later in the evening, the bride and groom thanked everyone for coming to help them celebrate. Their daughter, Vicky added her appreciation to all who had helped with arrangements. Luncheon was served, and the table was decorated with flowers and centered with a beautiful book anniversary cake.

Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Bannerman

Married in Ormstown

Gordon was born in New Glasgow, N.S. and attended Presbyterian College in Montreal. He and Marion Mason of Ormstown were married in St. Paul's United Church, Ormstown on September 3, 1955. They have one daughter, Vicky, her husband Ron Zacharias and three beautiful granddaughters, Melissa, Cindy and Sarah of Ottawa, who were all at the celebration.

Although Gordon has retired from his ministry in the two-point charge of Ormstown-Rockburn Presbyterian Churches, he continues to counsel and fill in as pulpit supply. Both he and Marion enjoy gardening, computers and helping others, and are happy in their home in Huntingdon.

We wish them many more years of good health and happiness.
