Gerald Smythe lived life to the fullest

Gerald W. Smythe of North Bangor, NY, died September 17, 2003 in a private plane crash in St-Anicet. He was 61.

The former Huntingdon-area man who was born in Ormstown on March 1, 1942, attended St. Joseph and Notre Dame schools in Huntingdon. He was the eldest son of William and Edna (Curran) Smythe of Huntingdon.

In 1964, he married Elizabeth "Betty" Bisnette at Notre Dame Church in Malone. She survives.

For 26 years, he had owned and operated Smythe Welding and Machine Shop in North Bangor, N.Y.. Over the years, his many interests involved working on a wide range of motorized vehicles.

Mr. Smythe was involved in stock car racing with his son, Tim, and was generally known for his ability to fabricate parts for motorcycles and for the restoration of antique cars and motorcycles. His involvement in the H.O.G. Chapter in Plattsburgh, N.Y., included three years as a director and he was a member of the National Association.

He and his wife travelled extensively throughout Canada and the United States on a Harley Davidson, and a unrealized trip to Australia with friends had been planned. He also participated in the North Franklin Amateur Radio Operators for the past 18 years with his daughter Stephanie.

Golf was another interest and his latest passion was flying, an activity he pursued the past three years. He also found time to be part of the North Bangor Fire and Rescue Department. Fundraising for the Children's Miracle Network and Make a Wish Foundation were charities he supported through fundraising activities.

He is also survived by son Timothy and daughter-in-law, Mandy of Malone, N.Y.; a daughter, Stephanie and her companion Richard Vachon, of Malone; a brother, John Smythe of Toronto; three sisters and brothers-in-law, Judy and Jerry Henley of Woodstock, NB; Norah and the late Roger England of Perth, ON; and Mary Jo and Glen Wallace of Athelstan; as well as four grandchildren, Erica Smythe, Anthony Smythe, Courtney Smythe and Ryler Shorette, all of Malone; and nephews, nieces and cousins.
