Motorist loses life in Ormstown

Patrice Laflamme (Translated by Denise D. Hubert)

A motorist lost his life early last week along Rte.138 in Ormstown, a kilometre east of Rte. 201.

According to police information, a car collided with a heavy truck coming in the opposite direction late in the afternoon on November 12. Towards 5 p.m., the car was travelling east as a semitrailer transporting rolls of paper approached from the opposite direction. The tragedy occurred when the driver of the car tried to pass a vehicle in front of him. "The motorist lost control, resulting in a head-on collision with the truck," explained Agent Ronald McInnis, spokesperson for the Montérégie Sûreté du Québec (SQ).

The two vehicles were found in the ditch. According to McInnis, the car was wedged under the tractor trailer.

The accident victim is Jean-Sébastien Billette, a Longueuil resident. The 38-year-old man died on impact. His body was taken to the Barrie Memorial Hospital in Ormstown.

The truck driver is a 46-year-old Ormstown resident. He escaped with only minor injuries.

It took considerable time to pull the two vehicles from the ditch. A tow truck was necessary to remove the tractor trailer from the car. A backhoe was also needed at the scene.

SQ agents from the Haut St-Laurent detachment and accident scene experts have opened an investigation. Heavily damaged, the car and semitrailer were subjected to complete inspections.
