"Either the civilian population must go short of many things to which it is accustomed in times of peace or our armies must go short of munitions and other things indispensable to them."

NOW the only way we can possibly live up to that obligation is by going without in order that our soldiers may have. For the money we waste is not money at all-it is equipment, clothing, shot and shell that are urgently needed in France.

By denying ourselves, therefore, we enable Canada to procure to the fullest extent the materials and labor which she and our Allies need for the successful prosecution of the war.

What happens when we fail to save?

A pull on labor by the Government in one direction and a pull on labor by the people in the opposite direction.

Hundreds of millions of dollars are of no use to the country if goods and services can be secured only to the extent of eighty millions of dollars. So we must do everything in our power to release both goods and labor for the purposes for which Canada needs them.

WHETHER it be food, coal, wool, steel, leather, labor or transportation, the result in all cases is the same. Whoever competes with the nation by freely satisfying his own desires, selfishly appropriates to his own use that which is so urgently required for our fighting men in France.

For the sake of your country and the boys "over there," spend cautiously. Think of what Lord Kitchener has said, and ask yourself first, "Is this something I really need or can I do without it?"

Notes of the Week

We are afraid the loval people of the district do not realize to the full extent of its meaning what happened at Chrysostome on the night of the 6th instant. A farmer had his barns set on fire. In one brief hour he witnessed not only the fruit of his season's labor in saving his crops, but of the savings of his lifetime, as represented in his buildings and stock, wiped out. David Wilson is an old settler, a quiet, respectable man who gives offence to nobody, who knows of no personal enemy, so that the motive of the fellow who set the match that has wrought him such grievous loss can have been none other than that his neighbors believe, namely, resentment at his having allowed a company of the King's soldiers to pitch their tents on his farm He has suffered for permitting what no farmer would refuse, that is, giving the use, for a brief period, of a field on the riverside to men in khaki. Shall he be penalized for that? It is the duty of the federal government to indemnify him for the loss suffered in doing it a favor. If it does not do so then it is for the loyal people of the district to do what belongs to the military authorities. Our loyal population has put up with much. have spared their choicest sons to fight Britain's battles, there is mourning among them over the wounded and the dead and they are mocked and jeered at for their sacrifices. Are they going to stand and see a decent farm er robbed of his property by a gang of lackers-of fellows who will fight, but sneak in the woods and seek revenge on those who would have them do their duty?

The war news is important. Last week attention was fixed on General Haig's drive at the north-west end of the German front, this week the world is watching General Pershing and his brave Americans in a drive at the eastern end. Wherever in what is known as the Hindenburg line of forti-Scations there stood a hill favorable for defence, a bulge was made to take it in. Such a bulge was made a few miles north of Verdun and was a deep one, in shape resembling a borseshoe. General Pershing was given the task of driving the Germans out this horse-shoe shaped salient. He might have begun at the toe and driven the enemy out of it. He aimed at more than that-he desired to capture of beginning at the toe, he planned to draw a line across the open end of the horseshoe. He arranged that part of his army should attack on the east side and another part on the west. Both doing so at the same time and marching forward they would meet when the Germans would have no alternative but to surrender. On Thursday morning he began an intense artillery fire, so destructive that it levelled everything. After subjecting the enemy to three hours' shelling, the infantry advanced. They met with alight resistance, and swept forward until they met as had been arranged. Caught in a trap the Germans fought desperately to break thru, but in vain, and 20,000 prisoners were taken with two hundred guns and great quantities munitions. The victory was complete. Pershing's plan had worked out as he had expected, the St. Michiel salient no longer existed, and he was free to march onwards towards Germany. How he will proceed will edily be seen.

There is a revival of military operations in Macedonia. The Serbian army has been reconstituted and joining the French made an advance that ended in capturing important positions and several thousand Bulgarians. The Greek, army is also moving. With complications in Russia, Germany has now its hands full and cannot draw reinforcements from its allies.

At a meeting of the parish school commission, held on Friday, the collection roll was homologated, and the secretary ordered to collect the taxes according to law.

Between Thursday night and Monday morning, No. 6 school-house (Grant's) was entered by persons unknown, and flag, bell, and numerous articles removed. A reward is being offered for information that will lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

RIVERFIELD

The regular meeting of the Farm-ers' Club was held in Howick on Monday evening. The occasion was a pub-lic meeting to hear an address on Tuberculosis in the herd by Dr. N. E. Mc-Ewen of Macdonald College. The atice was not large as the rain was pouring down in torrents, but the address was exceedingly interesting and instructive. Dr. McEwen discussed fect laws of Canada allowing importa-tion of infected animals and the lack of standardization of the serum used in treatment, how the disease is transmitted, both human and bovine. its sed. He pointed out that the dis case was spread by allowing the infected animals, especially in the registered class, to be in the herd, by using the milk of such animals and allowing the meat to be sold as food in the farms and rural sections. He pointed out that no farmer ought to feel ashamed that the disease is in his herd, but rather to use rigorous methods to ex-terminate it. This movement, to be Cective, must be co-operative and very community owes it to itself from the point of view of health of the human race, as well as from the point of view of business, for a purchaser once bit will not likely come back to that community to make any further purchases. Dr. McEwen exhibited the heart of an infected cow which weighed 34 pounds when the cow was killed. The marmal weight is about 4 or 5 lbs. This cow's milk was shipped to Montreal for at least 3 years. He urged this community, with a continental reputation for high-class registered cattle, to begin at once for the cleaning up of the disease. On motion by Rev. Woods and Dr. Whillans a hearty vote of thanks was rendered Dr. Mc-Ewen for his splendid address.

VALLEYFIELD

On Saturday the Boy Scouts held their field day and were considerably augmented by the troops of Westmount and Beauharnois. The local boys met the visitors at the N.Y.C. depot and marched to the campus at the Gault Institute where they were dismissed. Through the kindness of Mr John Lowe the boys were shown through the mills of the Montreal cottons Ltd, and a keen interest was taken in all that was to be seen. In the afternoon a capital programme of sports was carried out on the school grounds and the competition between the respective troops created a great deal of excitement. The various events were decided on points and at the close the results were as follows:-Valleyfield 56, Westmount and Beauharnois tied for second place with 26 points each. A hot supper was served in the school room and the boys were afterwards entertained at the Valleyscope. On Sunday afternoon a church parade was held in the Methodist church where the Kev. Dr. Lawson preached an eloquent sermon to a large congregation. Visiting troops left for home by the 7.15 p.m. train. On Saturday night St. Mark's church congregation held their annual Golden Glow Social. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and there was a very large turnout of people. A first-class programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered.

On Tuesday morning the Fair open ed on the Exhibition grounds. The entries have come in fairly well and although not up to previous years the quality of stock is of a high standard. There is an abundance of side shows. merry-go-rounds etc., while the special attraction was the flights of the famous French aviator, who performed the feat of looping the loop.

London, Sept. 10.—The troopship Persic, with 2,800 American soldiers on board, has been torpedoed. All hands were saved. The troopship was beached. There was no sign of panic on board and the admirable behaviour of the men was especially gratifying to the officers. To the surprise of most of the soldiers, the troopship did not sink. Some means apparently was found to check the inrush of water and she got near enough to shore to be beached. It is hoped that the vessel ultimately can be saved. The submarine that attacked her suffered a far worse fate at the hands of the av-enging destroyers. She was lifted clear out of the water after one of the depth bombs exploded, and then en-tirely disappeared.

LETTERS FROM THE FRONT The two following letters are from the son of Michael Tobin, Powerscourt

France, Aug. 18, 1918 Dear Mother and Father:-

Just a few lines to let you know I am O.K. and hope you are both keeping well. I have been receiving several letters from you but have hardly got time to read them. Guess you will see by the papers that we are into hard fighting now, and, with the help of God, I have come through without a scratch. Believe me, it is wild some times. I have lots of souvenirs for you if I can only get time to send them. I am awful glad you got the crucifix all right and you will have the other souvenirs before long. I must tell you I lost the little pictures of you and dad with a lot of other little thing. I lost my pocket book and I am sure sorry, as I had a dandy purse that I bought in England, but so long as I am living and well I don't care about anything else. I had a letter from J. A. Fee and he is still in England. He said Tom Connor was France. Well, I will close for this time. I will write again as soon as possible. Perhaps the next time you hear from me I will be over in England with a nice Blighty. I must say goodbye. Take good care of yourselves, and don't worry about me. I will come out of it O.K., your loving son, I'te. Elmer F. Tobin

France, Aug., 24, 1918

Dear Mother and Father: Just a line to let you know I am O.K. Glad you are both feeling a little better. We are having awful warm weather here now. One hardly feels like moving around in the day time at all. You will see by the papers we are pretty busy just now fighting every day. I have some little souvenirs for you but I don't get time to send them I have not much to tell you so will close for this time in hopes you get everything I send you all right. Bye, bye, your loving son, Elmer F. Tobin

SOUVENIR COLLECTING AT THE FRONT

France, Aug., 17, 1918 Dear Adam: - Today is cooler, which is a blessing after the extreme heat, so I'll write a few lines. Last night, after I had dug out my night's shelter and gone to bed. I began running over my arrears of correspondence and remembered I'd promised to write about any little side issues in this life for Possibly souvenir collecting might be of interest. These are divided into various classes-Allied equipment, Blighties or wounds and German equipment. The last naturally are the ones the collectors go after. As soon as the guns are out of range and the orders to advance havn't come in they go over to the roadside and collect shoulder badges, caps, buttons, picture post cards, German money, etc. from the prisoners, who are only too willing to give them away. The caps are divided into several styles, the ordinary round cap without a peak worn by the privates, the peaked cap of the N.C.O.'s and the officers' caps Nearly all have a red band around them and are grey colored. As the advance goes on equipment of all sorts is to be found. Rifles, revolvers, machine guns, etc., being salvaged by the army along with the hand grenades and ammunition but after the advancing infantry have taken what they want the covering artillery, etc., have an endless variety of junk to pick from, if they have time. The personal kit worn by the Boche is lighter than ours and in many cases consists of more articles, but the quality is lacking. Nearly all have an extra suit of new underwear in their packs, but the material is poor and from the appearance and the way it tares I think considerable paper must be used in its manufacture. The boots are also lighter and the soles consist partly of wood. The German water-bottle is made in an attractive style, small and bottle shaped. The metal appears to be partly aluminum and a velvet jacket is buttoned over to keep the water cool. Its big disadvantage is that it is

Recently I wandered into a dugout belonging or did belong to a German major. He had it very comfortably furnished at the expense of the French civilians, and being some distance from the old line had panes of glass in the window and door. He was quite a reader and books and illustrated magzines were scattered all over. One had a picture of Hindenburg with a halo over his head. There was also a Sunday School lesson, which had picture of Jesus going thru the streets of Jerusalem. In the corner of the picture, gently patting a child's head. was an old man with a fierce waxed mustache curled like the Kaiser's! One day we ran across a canteen, so we tried out its tobacco. I have read some place or other that the tobacco is made from the leaves of trees an after smoking it I don't doubt it at at all, as it is bitter and strong. One thing the canteen did have that was good was matches. They were made in Switzerland and as we were unusually short came in handy. There were also a few loaves of bread lying around and more disagreeable looking stuff would be hard to find. It is black and A strange comparison to it being the iron rations (24 hours emergency rations which we all carry). These are small cubes of biscuits, white, soft and sweet. These are more metizing than our hard tack, but I think we would soon tire of them. Your Brother, Watson Sellar The disorganization that prevails in Russia is shown by what passes in the government offices at Petrograd and ployed only a few perform their work conscientiously. The majority smoke cigarettes, drink tea, and talk most of the time. A still worse situation was found at the Petrograd post office when that institution recently was inspected by a Government commission. The lished report stated that although the mail matter handled by the post office was only forty per cent. of the amount of that of previous years, the number of employees had been doubled within the last year. They work only three hours a day, he said, as there is no authority to enforce the six hour law for employees in office. They hour law for employees in offices. They recognize no superiors except their own committees. The chairman also noted a great increase in thefts at the post office and said these were hard to trace because of the general confusion.

It was the rain the country needed, a warm rain to revive the pastures, which were growing bare and red, and restart the roots which had stopped growing. It was a rain that transformed the face of the country, making it green and lush once more, but it did not suit the Huntingdon fair. In fact, it made it a failure. It was raining heavily Thursday morning, then cleared somewhat, keeping fair with an occasional drizzle until towards sunset, when the rain set in again. Friday it rained without intermission, lifting towards evening. Two more unfavorable days the society has not known, with the result that it faces a deficit in receipts. It also prevented the show being a good one. The wiseacres who, after surveying what was to be seen, oracularly gave it as their opinion the show was going down, spoke without knowledge. The rain kept a large percentage of exhibits from coming forward. Had every animal and article for which entry-tickets had been issued been in their place, it would have been a good show and done honor to the county. Considering the weather and the state of the roads it was surprising it came off as well as it did. The war, of course, affected it, especially in livestock. Owing to the shortage in labor farmers could not give the time necessary to fit animals for the prize-ring, several who did fit them failed to get men to lead them to it. Then, the Ottawa exhibition being held at the same time, took away animals that would have been shown here. As has been the case for several years, the best class on the grounds was the Ayrshire, and they would have held their own anywhere. Holsteins were few and by no means represented the place they hold in our dairies, for they are numerous and are in demand. There was an average turn-out of sheep, the Leicesters showing a marked improvement, and the swine were excellent. The Tamworth, the bacon hog, is gaining favor. Horses are not what they used to be, striking proof being that there was not a single aged Clydesdale stallion. One cause of the falling-off is the low price farmers are willing to pay. In Ontario the fee is universally $20 for a Clyde. Here it is so low that there is no encouragement to keep valuable animals much less to import new stock. Teams and brood mares were the best classes. Light-drafts were not numerous, many that had been entered being kept back rather than expose them to mud and wet. The small display in poultry was due to the society's cutting off prizes ed either for eggs or the table. On entering the second flat of the big building, the eye naturally turned to the bench reserved for apples and was disappointed, for the display was meagre. Two large fruitgrowers, who had made numerous entries, stayed at home, on seeing what kind of day it was. Vegetables also were few and had it not been for the competition in largest and best collection would have been poor indeed. The baskets proved the season had been favorable. Finer tomatoes were never entered. The largest collection included 30 varieties. The ears of corn were so fine, and the stalks of silage so luxuriant, that the wish was natural that they were representative of the crop that is being saved, which is most indifferent. In bread there was a fair competition. The loaves that took the McDonald & Robb and the Lake of the Woods barrels of flour were exceptionally fine.

for breeds that cannot be commend-

The rain affected the display of flow ers, many entered not coming. The judge considered the house plants could be improved on in shape, by better exposure to light and trimming. The cut bloom made a fine showing, especially the asters. The bouquets were most attractively arranged.

It is to the credit of our women that there was fewer fancy articles than in past years. The time they devoted to the trifles that charm the feminine mind they now give to Red Cross work, and no more devoted workers for our boys at the front are to be found in the province. There was a corner set aside for a Red Cross exhibit and the judge had naught save praise for the cellence of the work. Miss Milicent Walker had prepared samples and details of how to conform with the requirements of the Red Cross and they were examined with interest and profit by many visitors. Of this department and of the fancy work as a whole one of the Judges, sent by Macdonald college, and who had just come on a similar duty from the Richmond exhibition, declared the Huntingdon exhibit much superior, and visitors agreed that while more fancy work was to be seen in past years at none was there any better with an almost entire absence of trashy articles. The baskets woven from pine needles were much admired, and showed what Miss Helen McNaughton had accomplished by her visit to Florida. Of exhibits by storekeepers and others, may be mentioned the display of furs by Mr. Ostiguy and the Dion company, Mr. Oney's showing of carpets and furniture, Mr. Blondin's agricultural stand and above all, the collection of Victrolas by John Dixon, among them being an instrument priced at $350. While the cornet band gave music out of doors, Mr. Dixon regaled those in the building with an endless variety, Harry Lauder being most in request. The Lyster electric light plant shown by J. A. McCracken, was quite a help the second day in brightening the room. He had also several implements, among them the Smith Form-A-Tractor. There were two other tractors, the Fordson and the Monarch, the latter having caterpillar wheels.

The ladies of the Athelstan church had a bazaar and had no reason to regret their venture, their receipts were $100. The ladies' aid of St. Andrew's had also a bazaar and cleared $66. The dining hall had been rented by the Red Cross, and, owing to the weather, had not the patronage they expected. Still they did remarkably well under the adverse conditions that prevailed both days. They served capital dinner. In canvassing for it, many gave money instead of provisions and this, as matters turned out, was a benefit, for they did not nearly use all the food contributed. The manager of the dinner were Mrs. Oney and Miss Martha Shaw, and they did well. The total receipts from dinner tickets and contributions was $1265 of which the Red Cross gets $1081. The serious aspect of the fair is its effect on the society. Last year the receipts at the gate were $969, this year $309, a shortage of $660. As the society was already $2000 in debt, it is In no position to face this increase. What the directors may determine to do we do not know. The friends of the society are facing a serious crisis which will take careful handling. There is one fact to be kept in view and that is, the society has never received the support from the farmers it had a right to expect. Out of some 1500 who might be looked to to support a Society that is for their benefit, only 260 give the dollar a year to make them members. A canvass for members for the coming year if decently responded to, would, at least, wipe out the deficit caused by two days of rain.

With the British Armies in France, Sept. 11.-Just before the British launched their attack this morning on the enemy trenches northwest of Pieziere below Gouzeaucourt the Germans for the first time employed a new kind of projectile in an effort to drive the New Zealand troops from nearby positions.

The projectiles, which were about the size of oranges, were fired at short range in salvoes of from 200 to 300 each, and were sprinkled over an area of two to three Acres. These projectiles burst into flames as they hit the ground, and gave off poison gas. BEAUHARNOIS

The Boy Scouts, in charge of Scoutmaster Reay, went up to Valleyfield on Saturday to join the Valleyfield Scouts in a Field day and church parade on Sunday.

Another young man, who spends the summer here, with his mother and sister, Mr Alex. Forsyth, has enlisted. He is seeking to qualify for the air service.

An effort is being made to relieve the fuel situation in town, by bringing in 300 cords of wood. This is to come by barge and will be retailed at $10 a cord at the wharf, or $11 delivered, or $13 cut, split and delivered. It is being brought here by Mr Joseph Legault, who is our wood merchant. Coal is very slow in arriving and the controller is dividing it up in small quantities, so that all can get a little.

Evidently we are not to get our macadam roads this year, but are assured work will be commenced here and at Maple Grove early next spring. At present work is being done on the road leading back from the track at Bellevue. The missions along the shore are all closed, after a successful season. Mr Scott's services were appreciated at Woodlands and Maple Grove. Mr Anderson and Mr Morison carried on the work at Melocheville. Word was received on Sunday by Mrs Ashton, that her husband had been gassed at the front. He is a gunner and has been in service now for considerable time. One writing home spoke of him as a splendid gunner, and what he did not know about his gun was not worth knowing.

A HOTEL EVOLUTION People who have motored considerably in Ontario this summer have been impressed by the change in the conduct and atmosphere of the rural hotel. Under prohibition it has become more comfortable and homelike than before, and the prophecies of the "wets" that the hotels would all go out of business has been proved absurd. Instead of closing up, the majority of the Bonifaces, as Mr. George Wright said they would, have decided to "keep hotel." The hotel is no longer a bar-room with a few neglected rooms hitched on; it is a building for the housing of men and women. Formerly the bar was the part of the building in which the average proprietor took the greatest interest. It was his chief source of revenue, but the train of evils it brought repelled many sensitive people. These prejudices have now no basis, and the hotel is reestablished in favor, as the hotelkeeper turns his attention to creature comforts instead of the sale of "booze." The farmer, who in his hatred of the bar may have tied his horse in the church shed, now drives to the hotel, and though those who have motor cars may not need hay and oats at the hotel stable, they are patrons who add to the hotel's trade in other ways. Through motor traffic brings much business, of a class that will raise the standard of service in country hotels. Another development is the use of old hotels as boarding houses, where men may find a temporary home wherever they are called by their work. The scarcity of houses, in fact, makes the use of almost every form of building a necessity. Signs are many that the country hotel has entered upon a new era, that its plane is raised, and that it will go on in prosperity without the liquor that was at once its main support and its principal handleap .- The 44

MUST NOT FAIL SLAVS.

His Highness the Aga Khan Appeals to British.

His Highness the Aga Khan, the spiritual ruler of more than 50,000 .-000 Indian Mohammedans, has made the following statement to the Paris correspondent of the London Daily Express: The crisis from which Russia now suffers is by no means the first in her chequered history. Immédiately after her liberation from the two centuries of Tartar rule there was a chaos much greater than that of today in those vast dominions, and disruption threatened the heritage of the Muscovite races. Great Britain was one of the causes that led to her regeneration, English and Scottish adventurers, the seekers after the Northwest Passage, and many littleknown successors of the Elizabethan mariners visited Russia and played a great part in her development, which continued down to the time of Peter and Catherine.

'To-day the same problem is once more before us. What will happen to these vast dominions is the greatest question of the hour. Will the Central Powers play the part that Britain played in India after the break-up of the Mogul Empire? Will they bring about law and order, will they be the means that will hold together the races and nationalities that go to make Russia? If so, they will be the real victors in the world-

'Is England going to abandon all the wonderful commercial possibilities of Russia to the Central Powers? Now, I believe, is the time to send to Russia men of intense purpose, men with the necessary commercial knowledge and experience to develop trade with the milltons of Russians who are so earnestly in need of so many articles. Will Great Britain, then, leave Russia in the lurch in her hour of trial and despair? I cannot believe it.

'Now is not the time to be disputing about diplomatic forms, for n a very real sense the white man's burden for the Englishman to-day is Russia. One reads daily of Englishmen leaving Russia and turning homewards. How I wish it were the other way round! It ought to be a stream of the descendants of the Elizabethan and Georgian adventurers turning eastward toward Russia, placing themselves at the head of every movement-scientific, cultural, economic and military-and reclaiming Russia for the culture of Western Europe!

"The Russian ideals need sympathy and every consideration, for, after all; they, with all their faults, hold up a torch of faith and hope to mankind, and their gospel is a repetition of the teachings of Christ and Mahomet. It requires a generous imagination to understand and deal with them.

"Will the compatriots of Clive and Drake and Shakespeare fall for want of imaginative sympathy?"

Pockets Quite Essential. Pockets are among the most use ful things ever invented. What a small town hick would do for a place to put his hands had be no pockets is hard to imagine. No man knows exactly how many pockets he has. If you don't believe it ask the first man you meet. He can't come within four of R. Each suit of clothes is equipped with so many of these repositories that the average "he" can't think right off the reel how many he has Give a man a suit of clothes with out a single pocket and he would be lost. Just look what a man carries around in his pockets. Half a dozen letters, a can of tobacco and a pipe, or two or three cigars (more often these are worn in his vest just over his heart), a fountain pen, a pencil or two, a photograph of a dizzy broiler he doesn't want wifey to see, a knife that won't cut anything, a key ring with fourteen keys on it, some stamps all stuck together, a few rubber bands, a memorandum book, a newspaper clipping or something the local paper said about him, a watch, a pocket chip, a card or two admitting him to his favorite club, a pocketbook with some money in it, a laundry ticket, a rabbit foot, a clasp of a silk garter, a few cigar store coupons, a deck of cards, a pistol, a recipe for curing a cold, a piece of court plaster, a dream book, a lock of hair, and ad infinitum Fish Affected by Cold.

It has been proved that sudden cold sometimes causes the death of thousands of fish in the shallow waters of the tropics and subtropics. Many species are so chilled as to become helpless, and are either killed directly by drowning or are washed ashore in a comatose state. phenomenon is known locally as 'freezing," although the temperature of the water may be several degrees above the freezing point. During very severe cold spells great numbers of fish are often killed along the Atlantic coast as far north as New England. Contact with cold air causes the water to cool rapidly, and the great expanse of shallow water around the Florida Keys and the many shallow bays that are little affected by tides afford favorable conditions for rapid cooling. - Family

Training the Croupiers. There is at Monte Carlo a school of crouplers. It is held during the six summer months in the club-room of the Tiraux Pigeons and the Salle d'Escraine, in the Casino building, Here are tables similar to those in the Casino gaming room, and each pupil in turn takes the role of croupier, while others personate players and stake money over a table. At a given instant the croupler must calculate and pay out the winning stakes. There are usually between forty and fifty pupils in this school, and a six months' course is generally aufficient to turn them into finished croupiers.

Sports In War Time.

A new event is being added to the list of athletic contests participated in at college track meets. It is grenade throwing. Dummy grenades have been placed on the market which are exact duplicates in weight and appearance of the deadly hand missiles employed by our men in the trenches. In recognition of the fact that correct throwing may be something more vital than a mere accomplishment for our young men, college coaches are giving it a place along with shot putting and hammer throwing, indicating that even our sports are being affected by the world PRIZES AT OTTAWA EXHIBITION

Wm. WHITCOMB McCLINTOCK In many households sorrow broods over the death of a son on the battleline, but the first to be reft of two sons by the cruel hand of war is that of James McClintock's, Ormstown. On Vimy Ridge, which was so deadly to the Canadian contingent, fought April 24, 1817, their son, James, who had risen to be an officer, was killed while leading his men. In the advance made by the British last month, their younger son, William, fell on the 11th of August. The following letter tells of the manner of his death-50th Batt., France, Aug. 15, 1918

Mr McClintock, Dear Sir,-I have the painful duty of telling you how your son lost his life, in action on Sunday, August 11th, 1918 (883697 McClintock, W). He was hit in the head while manning his Lewis gun and died instantly. He was well-liked by everyone in his company, and will most certainly be missed by all, more especially by me, his platoon commander, because for some time past he has been handling a Lewis gun section for me and was due for a stripe. He was very energetic and faithful to the last, and I join you in your sorrow at, his loss.

—The order of Knights of Columbus are making an effort to do for the Catholic soldiers at the front what the Y.M.C.A. has accomplished for the others. A campaign to raise four million dollars in the States is on foot and one to raise half a million in Canada. Dennis O'Connor, who is a mem-ber of the order, assisted by Kit Lefebvre, have undertaken to collect in funds in this locality. Those who de-clined to contribute to the Y.M.C.A. can have no excuse to offer these two gentlemen. The money sought is for the comfort and relief of those who are risking their lives for us who stay at home, and we will be pleased to hear they have had a cordial recep-

—The Havelock show turned out better than was anticipated. At 11 o'clock the clouds broke and the re-mainder of the day was fine. Report in next week's paper. -No secretary could have wrought more faithfully or with better know-ledge of what a show ought to be than W. F. Stephen, but the weather-man spoiled all his well laid plans. The

-On both Fair nights moving pic-tures were shown in the O'Connor hall, which were well patronized. Thursday night the picture entitled "Miss U.S.A." was shown, but was not seen to advantage, as the light was very dim. On Friday night the picture entitled "True Blue" was shown and held the interest of all in attendance, and was very clear. After the show a social dance was held, to which one hundred and ten couples re-
